MMRGLOBAL LAUNCHES “THE FUTURE OF YOUR HEALTH AT WORK TODAY” ON DAYTIME EMMY AWARDS SHOW SUNDAY

Los Angeles, CA (Marketwire – June 24, 2010) - MMRGlobal, Inc. (OTC.BB:MMRF - News) will launch its advertising campaign THE FUTURE OF YOUR HEALTH AT WORK TODAY to educate the public on the importance of having a Personal Health Record during the 37th Annual Daytime Emmy Awards airing from the Las Vegas Hilton this Sunday, June 27th on the CBS Television Network. The primetime show is projected to reach as many as seven million viewers. To preview MMR’s commercial go to <http://www.youtube.com/mmrglobal>.

The 30-second TV spot offers viewers the opportunity to find out for themselves the value of having a MyMedicalRecords Personal Health Record. Each online account comes with its own private personal fax number, a service that typically costs twice the amount of a subscription to MyMedicalRecords.com.

“GE has emerged as a major advertiser with their ‘healthymagination’ campaign, an initiative to gather, share and discuss healthy ideas, about how one can make a difference in their future,” said Robert H. Lorsch, Chairman and CEO of MMRGlobal, Inc. “MMR’s campaign is entitled ‘The Future of Your Health at Work Today.’ At MMRGlobal, we will begin the task of educating consumers on how they can make a difference in their future by having a Personal Health Record today.”

Using the MyMedicalRecords PHR, individuals can check to see if the information in their medical records is accurate, save money by avoiding unnecessary repeat tests, and safely view their health information online anytime, especially in an emergency. Additionally, users can be alerted to doctor appointments and prescription refills at multiple e-mail addresses, retrieve password-protected voicemail messages from their doctors, avoid having to fill out forms each time they visit a new doctor, maintain a record of all their children’s immunizations, have their medications automatically checked for adverse drug interactions, and importantly, experience peace of mind knowing that potentially life-saving information is protected and instantly accessible to medical personnel via a separate emergency login in an emergency or natural disaster situation.

“We believe that we represent one of the biggest user bases of any Personal Health Record in the world,” said Lorsch. “MMRGlobal’s THE FUTURE OF YOUR HEALTH AT WORK TODAY campaign will be expanded to other broadcast and online media to show how a powerful tool that people can use to better manage their health and help reduce medical expenses is available to everyone now,” added Lorsch.
